LABOR UNIONS CONDEMN ACTION OF ELECTION COMMISSION

Refusal of Commissioners to Extend Hours for Voting at Primaries on Tuesday Declared an "Outrage" by Trades and Labor and Lowell Textile Councils

The action of the election commissioners in refusing to extend the voting hours, and the reply was that the move had been started at Trades & Labor hall for the benefit of voters who are employed out of town.

The commissioners, however, refused to make any further changes, and the delegates were informed that the polls would be open from 10 a. m. to 7 p. m. At last evening's meeting of both councils it was stated that the action of the commissioners was one of disqualification against the working people.

It will be remembered that a week ago now after the election commissioners made known the hours of voting, to wit, 12 a. m. to 6 p. m., the Trades & Labor council sent them a letter requesting that the time be extended to 9 p. m. As a result the hours were changed from 10 a. m. to 7 p. m., but this did not satisfy the organization and a few days ago representatives of the council conferred with the commissioners. In the course of the conference, so it was stated today at Trades & Labor headquarters, the commissioners asked if any majority candidate was interested in the Burns to Get Facts on K.K.K.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—Representative Rainey, democrat, Illinois, who introduced, yesterday a resolution for investigation of reports that the Ku Klux Klan had conducted an initiation ceremony under the dome of the Capitol announced today he would ask William J. Burns, chief of the department of justice bureau of investigations to get the facts for congress.

Night Passed Quietly in Dublin

DUBLIN, Nov. 25.—(By the Associated Press)—Last night passed quietly in Dublin, and the feeling of uneasiness caused by the execution of Erskine Childers yesterday seemed greatly lessened today. Friends of Childers made a statement to the press today, saying that Mrs. Childers received an official intimation at 9:45 o'clock yesterday morning of her husband's execution. This, it is stated, was the first notification she had that the execution was fixed for yesterday.

Seeks Harding's Views on Bonus

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—Views of President Harding on the soldier bonus question in the light of the recent elections and in view of the determination of some bonus advocates to bring up the matter at the regular session of congress were sought by Senator Watson, Indiana, republican, leader in the senate in a visit today to the White House.

Warns of Counterfeit Five Dollar Bills

BOSTON, Nov. 25.—Federal secret service agents today sent out a warning that counterfeit Indian Head five dollar bills had been widely circulated in this vicinity. They described the counterfeits as photo-mechanical productions, with faint ink lines drawn to imitate the silk threads of the genuine notes and as being a trifle longer and wider than the genuine bills.

VISITOR TAKEN ON TOUR OF CITY

Walter H. Mellor, of Michigan City, Indiana, field secretary of the National Jewelers' association, paid an official visit to this city today. He was met by Frank T. Ward this morning and conducted on a tour of the city, during which time he called at all jewelry stores. Secretary Mellor is on an extended trip through New England and intends to visit all of the large cities. It is the first time that an executive officer of the National Association has visited Lowell.

Following visits to local stores, Mr. Mellor was taken to Amesbury and Haverhill by Mr. Ward. The men returned to this city late this afternoon and Mr. Mellor continued on his journey, going back to Boston.

AMERICAN SPOKESMAN AMAZES DELEGATES AT CONFERENCE

Richard Washburn Child Reiterates Insistence of the United States Upon the Open Door Policy in Turkey—Reads Aide-Mémoire Delivered to Allies on Oct. 30

LAUSANNE, Nov. 25.—(By the Associated Press) Richard Washburn Child, chief American spokesman at the Near Eastern conference, announced the other delegations today by reiterating the insistence of the United States upon the open door policy in Turkey. He read the aide-mémoire delivered on Oct. 30 to Great Britain, France and Italy, and said that the American government and public supported this policy.

The conference adjourned its morning session immediately after the completion of Ambassador Child's statement and will resume the discussion of boundaries this afternoon.

Mr. Child spoke as follows: "It is not unknown to those who have observed the history of conferences and negotiations that few subjects may be considered by themselves. I note, referring to the specific subject under discussion that all the various points of negotiations, must in the end be considered as a unit, and it is often true that not one detail of negotiation can be considered as isolated from the others."

RELIEF SHIP WITH 2000 ORPHANS FROM ASIA MINOR IN COLLISION

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 25.—(By the Associated Press)—Two thousand Christian orphans and two American relief workers were imperilled today when the steamship Belgravian, chartered by the Near East relief, collided with the transatlantic liner New York at the Western entrance of the Bosphorus.

Many Children Injured

Allied ships, despatched hurriedly to the scene, reported that many of the children had been painfully injured but that no lives were lost. Doctors and nurses were sent from the Near East headquarters here to attend the injured. The New York carried no passengers.

Children In Panic

Reports received here declare the children were in panic after the impact, which tore away the bridge and forecastle of the Belgravian, smashed the life boats and loosened seven of the vessel's plates. The steamer's wireless apparatus was also put out of commission. The American relief workers aboard the Belgravian were Paul Betts, Towanda, Pa., and Miss Elizabeth Mirless, of Hartford, Conn.

St. Boniface College Destroyed—2 Perish

WINNIPEG, Man., Nov. 25.—Two students lost their lives and 20 others were injured today when fire destroyed St. Boniface college, one of the oldest and most noted of Canadian Catholic institutions. The famous Jesuit library was also destroyed.

FIRST OF KEITH'S FORUM CONCERTS TODAY

The first of the Keith Forum concerts provided without cost for people of Lowell and vicinity by courtesy of Edward F. Albee, president of the Keith circuit of theatres, was given at 11 o'clock this morning in the popular Bridge street playhouse, with every seat taken by eager men, women and children who secured the free tickets of admission. The entertainments are to be continued for an indefinite period, with programs each Saturday morning one hour before noon.

Today's attendance delighted Manager Hen Pickett, who had made arrangements for the reception of music-lovers and amply provided for their comforts. It was "open house" all the morning for visitors and theatre-goers, and an excellent feature of the free concert offering was the presence of numerous families with children of school age, all anxious to partake of the Keith free-will offering.

The program was presented on an attractively decorated stage, with long, sweeping curtains of beauty neatly draped in true dramatic fashion, adding to the prosaic setting.

Adventures of The Twins

SCARECROW ALARMED

'HELLO' ANSWERED SCARECROW. I'M GLAD TO SEE YOU.'

The Twins took Simple Simon's advice and swung themselves down to the earth on a giant cobweb. "Well, I ask Scarecrow first. If he has seen Mother Goose's broom," said Nick taking Nancy's hand and starting off.

Pretty soon they came to Farmer Smith's house. Farmer Smith had selected Scarecrow until he was as good as new, with his arms and legs and a suit of his own clothes and a rakkish hat. Also he had given him a new stick to hold.

Nancy and Nick picked their way between the cob webs until they came to the middle of the field.

"Hello!" they called to the silent figure standing there. "Hello!" answered Scarecrow. "I'm glad to see you. I was getting so lonesome. Are you admiring my new clothes? Well, dear knows, didn't I get them before I needed them. My last year's ones were in ribbons."

CHARLIE CHAPLIN AND POLA NEGRI ENGAGED

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 23.—Charlie Chaplin and Pola Negri are engaged to marry, according to reports current in motion picture circles here, the Los Angeles Times stated in a story published today. Chaplin refused either to deny or confirm the reported engagement.

"I cannot say 'Yes,'" Chaplin was quoted. "Any such announcement must of necessity come from her. Neither can I say 'No.' Think of the position that would place her in."

According to the Times, Madame Negri cancelled an engagement to give a representative of that newspaper an interview when she received information of the subject he wished to discuss.

The Chaplin-Negri romance, the papers continue, had its beginning when Chaplin toured Europe last year. When Negri recently arrived here and again met Chaplin, she was said to have exclaimed: "This is what I have looked forward to ever since I started." They are said to have been almost inseparable since she reached Los Angeles.

Later Chaplin commented: "Marriage is no crime."

The comedian is said to have moved recently from a small cottage into a house of many rooms and to be occupying it alone.

There have been many reports in the last year that he was to marry. He formerly was the husband of Mildred Harris, screen and vaudeville actress.

ATTACK ON DR. MUELLER CAUSES SENSATION

BERLIN, Nov. 25.—(By the Associated Press) The attack made in the Reichstag yesterday by the socialist member Breitschmid upon Dr. Hermann Mueller, the new minister of agriculture and food controller, has created a sensation.

During the debate attendant upon Chancellor Cuno's inaugural speech Herr Breitschmid assailed the minister for his alleged connection with the separatist movement in the Rhineland and suggested that the chancellor should investigate the question of whether Herr Mueller was guilty of high treason.

Chancellor Cuno said that he would have the charges against Herr Mueller exhaustively investigated and the result reported to the house.

The Tagesschau states that Herr Mueller will tender his resignation today.

PAUL WHITEMAN'S FAMOUS ORCHESTRA

In keeping with the policy inaugurated at the beginning of the season by Mr. Francis Boose, to secure the greatest attractions in the country for appearances at Associate hall, he has engaged the original Paul Whiteman's Famous Royal orchestra to play for dancing on Thanksgiving eve, thus giving the dance-loving and music-loving folk of Lowell a chance to see and hear this famous group of instrumentalists play their latest dance numbers as they play them for the Victor records. Everyone is familiar with the name and reputation of this orchestra and now that the opportunity to greet them in Lowell comes next week everyone should make their destination Associate hall, Thanksgiving eve.

Paul Whiteman is known as the master of syncopation and as the original leader to score a dance number so that each and every instrument will bring forth all the melody that is necessary in providing perfect dancing time.

WAMESIT LODGE

At a recent meeting of Wamesit Lodge, 25 Knights of Pythias, the following committee was appointed to make arrangements for a carnival which will be held at the Casino in the latter part of January: Frank A. Whiteman, chairman; Hon. Terry D. Thompson, vice chairman; Dr. J. Greenway, secretary; Al H. Abbott, treasurer. The carnival will be given under the personal direction of Frank H. Baines, manager of the Lowell Decorating Co., and among the prizes to be given away will be a Rudek touring car.

RHEUMATIC POISONS ARE IN THE BLOOD

This Disease Causes Greater Thinning of the Blood Than Any Other

Rheumatism runs in families. It is a disease of the blood. Perhaps it can not be inherited but a tendency to it can be handed down from parents to offspring.

It is extremely difficult to relieve rheumatism when the blood is thin and no disease does the blood become thin so rapidly as in rheumatism. This makes it a hard disease to eradicate from the system because it weakens the means by which it must be conquered. The first step towards relief is to build up the blood.

Mrs. Margaret Green, who lives at No. 61A Beacon street, Cambridge, Mass., speaks from experience when she says that rheumatic poisons can be driven from the system for she was once a sufferer from this disease and owes her present good health to the treatment that she recommends to others. She says:

"I had rheumatism for over a year and suffered intense pain in my shoulders and in my limbs. I was very weak, could hardly walk at times and was so nervous that my nights were almost sleepless. I tried treatments, but did not get any better until I took Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I do not believe I would be living today if it were not for them. Certainly they are entirely responsible for the present good condition of my health.

I gave them a good trial and the pills in my shoulders and limbs left and my general health improved wonderfully. I am glad to recommend these pills to others for I know that they are all that is claimed for them."

Rich red blood carries strength and health to every part of the system when the vital fluid is built up by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The new blood brings brightness to the eye, vigor to the step and color to the cheeks and lips. Buy a 60-cent box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills at the nearest drug store and begin the treatment today.

Write now to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for the helpful booklet, "Building Up the Blood." It is free. Adv.

OBSERVE ANNIVERSARY OF IRISH MARTYRS

Tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock in A.O.H. hall, Middle street, Clan Na Gael of Lowell will observe the anniversary of Allen, Larkin and O'Brien, Irish martyrs, with an elaborate program of entertainment. Many out-of-town guests will be present at the invitation of the Lowell members. Special invitations have also been extended to all former members of the Clan, the local divisions of the A.O.H., Ladies Auxiliary, Irish National Sisters and other Irish organizations. Addresses, songs and readings will comprise parts of the program.

The regular meeting of Div. 11, A.O.H. was held last night, the principal item of business being a discussion of the division's activities. In the coming A.O.H. carnival, which is to be held in Associate hall on the evenings of January 15, 16, 17 and 18, Div. 11 will be represented with a table during the four nights and will award special prizes to the holders of lucky tickets.

Later Chaplin commented: "Marriage is no crime."

The comedian is said to have moved recently from a small cottage into a house of many rooms and to be occupying it alone.

There have been many reports in the last year that he was to marry. He formerly was the husband of Mildred Harris, screen and vaudeville actress.

GUEST SOCIAL AT NORMAL SCHOOL

The first Guest Social of the year, under the auspices of the School and Society League of the Lowell State Normal school, was held in the assembly hall of the school last night, and with much interest and enthusiasm fair of this nature just conducted.

The spacious hall was prettily decorated for the occasion with streamers of white, light green and yellow, while the orchestral stage was surrounded with palms and foliage. Special dance orders made by men and girls themselves were used, and girls were seen at least attractive. Besides the general dancing, there were several specialty dances, including a confetti dance, streamers dance and an elimination dance. Refreshments were served at intermission.

Miss Marion Garvey, general chairman of the School and Society League, had general charge of last night's affair, and she was ably assisted by the members of the various committees, which consisted of the following:

Decorations: Miss Margaret Weed, chairman; Marion Smith, Margaret Reynolds, and Margaret Norman, committee; Miss Ellen McEvoy, chairman; Misses Anna Muir Baucy, Barbara McAdoo, Lilian Ryan and Rose Porteck. Novelty committee: Miss Violet Hobson, chairman; Misses Agnes Nolin and Elsie Madigan. Invitation committee: Miss Carolyn Garvey, chairman; Misses Irene Breitner and Ruth Whalen. Dance order committee: Miss Hazel Whitaker, chairman; Misses Ann Jeppson, Molly Poland, Dorothy Hill, Dorothy Sheridan, Jessie McDonald, Edith Girard, Louise O'Connor and Mrs. Goodwin.

The one party of the evening was Mr. Edwin Headley and the patrollers—Miss Ruth Valley, Miss Blanche Cheney, Mrs. Clarence M. Weed and Mrs. Edwin Headley.

U. S. Millionaires to Fly to Arctic
On Hunting and Exploring Trip

BY DUDLEY SIDDALL
NEA Service Staff Writer
NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Development of the flying boat has now reached a point where a party of American millionaires is planning to fly next summer on a hunting and exploring trip to the Arctic circle. It will be a prospecting trip de luxe.

Success in the venture will virtually result in opening a whole new continent in northern Canada.

Mysterious wildernesses heretofore penetrated only by hardy adventurers will be brought within three days of New York. Financial will be able personally to investigate the fabulous stories of minerals, timber, and fur brought back from the Arctic circle by explorers. Two weeks' vacation will suffice for the sportsman to get a shot at a walrus or polar bear.

Six Signs for Trip

Sounds like a dream, but—Four prominent Detroiters and two men of New York's leaders in commercial aviation are already booked for the first flight, which will be operated by Aeromarine Airways, Inc. A specially constructed seaplane to carry ten passengers and a crew of three on north-east trips is now building in Keeney, N. J. Official permission for such flights has been granted by the Canadian government. Arrangements for gasoline and other supplies have been made with the Hudson Bay Co.

"After operating passenger-carrying aircraft for three years and having flown over one million passenger miles without a serious mishap, we concluded that proper, regulated flying would enable us to fly to the Hudson Bay territory in safety," said Charles F. Redden, president of Aeromarine Airways.

WHI Utlite Lakes

"Due to the numerous large lakes and rivers throughout Canada we will have continuous opportunity for landing from New York to the northwest territory. Inasmuch as our boats fly only over water this chain of lakes and rivers, affording safe landing facilities, removed the first and only serious obstacle to such a flight."

"When I first suggested the possibilities to business men and sportsmen in Detroit, they were amazed. They were quick to realize, however, that the hunters' paradise of the world hitherto inaccessible, was at last within a few short hours of their homes in Detroit."

"So far four have definitely agreed to go. They are Howard E. Coffin, wartime chairman of the U. S. aircraft board, vice president of the Hudson Motor Car Co., and president of the National Aeronautic association; Col. Harold H. Emmons, president of the Detroit board of commerce; Dr. James W. Inches, Detroit police commissioner; William E. Metzger, fire commissioner and president of the Detroit Automobile club.

"Inglis M. Uppercu, owner of Aeromarine Airways, and I are also going on this first trip."

So little is known of this part of Hudson Bay region that no accurate itinerary is to be scheduled. The plane will leave New York about July 1, go to Montreal by way of the Hudson river; jump over inland lakes and rivers to Moose Factory on James Bay. The trip will take two or three weeks, and future trips will be made as regular.

In preparing a defense for the Yale attack in which deceptive offense built around Owen largely hoped to outscore Yale, Owen, throughout this season, has been in little more than an hour of actual play, and his best friends on this, his last appearance, agree on the college gridiron, he was going to make up for lost time.

Into New Haven by train, by automobile, by trolley, by foot and even by airplane poured the 78,000 spectators. France's former premier apart, the crowd included hundreds of high standing in the country several score whom came by special car.

With the bowl filling early, the spectacle from the top of the great semi-circular stand of seats was that of a grassy plain, white-lined at 10 yards intervals for a stretch of 100 yards, surrounded by rising ridges of seats which were filling fast from ranks that were choked almost to a standstill as could be seen and from automobiles which formed a line that stretched mile after mile, far row upon row.

Life and other came from young and old, from the undergraduates enjoying the full the biggest sport day in their academic year, most of them with girls, to graduates and parents of players, who made holiday for the occasion.

CLEMENCEAU OFF FOR YALE BOWL

BOSTON, Nov. 25.—Georges Clemenceau, rested by a good night's sleep after his address at Tremont Temple late yesterday, left today to see the Yale-Harvard football game at New Haven. His private car was attached to the train leaving the South station at 8:30 a. m. and due at New Haven at 12:22 p. m.

Clemenceau was given a rousing send-off by crowds of communists that gathered about him as he passed through the station. He waved his hand as volleys of cheers greeted his appearance.

Immediately on board his car the Tiger went to his stateroom and retired for a short nap.

The war-time premier of France dined last night at the home of his Boston host, Francis L. Higginson, Jr. During the night he awoke and ate a lunch of two boiled eggs and half an orange. His secretary remained up until the early hours of the morning attending to correspondence. Clemenceau arose at 5:30 o'clock.

Army and Navy Clash
PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 25.—Football

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS'

warriors of the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis and the United States Military academy at West Point were up early today, eager for their great battle on Franklin field, this afternoon before 50,000 or more people, including Vice President Coolidge, Secretaries Weeks and Denby of the army and navy, Gen. Pershing and officers of high rank in both services. It marked the return of the battle to Franklin field for the first time since 1914.

First the Army and then the Navy had their final workout on Franklin field yesterday afternoon. Both practices were secret.

"There isn't a great deal to choose," said Head Coach Folwell of the Sea Dogs. "We look for victory; so does the Army."

THE SPIRIT OF WINTER

The fish in this pen-picture by Alfred Satterfield is a salmon trout, most beautiful form of piscatorial life. This salmon—Ojibway Indians call him "mawayewash"—is sportively leaping from the water, getting exercise and expressing his joy at being alive. He is near shore, in shallow water, where he is guarding the eggs recently laid by his mate.

Soon the lake will freeze over, solid and thick, like a burial under the soil. But when the spring comes and the ice melts, the salmon will leap into the air again. And the eggs will have hatched into thousands of young salmon, instinctively following one leader.

Such is the whole spirit of winter, now creeping down from the northland. Study Satterfield's pen-picture. Grass and even reindeer moss are covered by snow. In the distance you see tree trunks, leaves all gone, rising dimly like rib bones of a half buried giant's skeleton. A few trees—evergreens—stand out, symbols of life eternal. It is a beautiful scene—but cold, dreary and dismal except to a philosopher. For winter symbolizes death, the creeping thing that buries all life. But winter will pass and plant life will bloom again as surely as the buck salmon will leap forth when the ice goes out. Apply the idea to human death, and you can contemplate the Veiled Future with serenity, trustfulness and calm.

SHORT SKETCHES OF CANDIDATES FOR MUNICIPAL OFFICE

Mayoralty Candidates Are All Well Known, But There Are Many New Names on the Councilor and School Board Lists—Primary Election Tuesday—Polls Open From 10 A. M. to 7 P. M.

Lowell voters will have a list of 37 candidates before them next Tuesday when city officers for 1923 are nominated.

While many men and women in the several groups are well known to the majority of citizens, others are newcomers into the political field and as their identities may not be established, the following thumb-nail sketches are submitted.

MAYOR

The first name on the ballot will be that of Perry D. Thompson. He served as mayor four years, in 1915, 1919, 1920 and 1921. Prior to his first year, the mayoralty candidate served a two-year term on the school committee. He is a lumber operator and real estate owner and lives at 185 Andover street.

The second name is that of George H. Brown, present mayor. He served as mayor in 1909 and is commissioner under the old form of government, in the water, finance and street departments. He resides at 49 Second street.

John J. Donovan is the third man on the list. He has been a candidate for the office on two previous occasions and finished just a few hundred votes back of Mr. Brown in the primaries last year. He has served many years on the police department and served in France with the A.E.F. during the World war. He lives at 42 Chaffre street.

Fourth position on the ballot was drawn by Jeremiah J. O'Sullivan, also a candidate last year. He has served as a member of the board of assessors and is a practicing attorney. His address is 105 Mt. Washington street.

COUNCILOR-AT-LARGE

James F. Hennessy is manager of the Randlett Grease Co. He resides at 385 Pine street and has been active in political circles for some time, but has never held office.

Joseph M. Kelly is a compositor and has also been active in military and musical circles. He served as a field-lieutenant-instructor in the recent war and a few months ago was appointed captain of a Lowell company of organized reserves. He lives at 201 Pleasant street.

Michael H. Thor is an auctioneer. He resides at 1 Lenox avenue. He was not a candidate last year.

George B. Roche was a candidate for councilor from ward 4 last year but this year is seeking councilor-at-large honors. He served in the old common council at one time. Mr. Roche is a plumber. He lives at 599 Central street.

Frank McMahon is a member of the present city council and chairman of the committee on Licenses. He served in the city government prior to the commission form of government and was at one time in the legislature. His address is 25 Willow street.

John J. McFadden is a member of the present city council. He was a candidate for councilor from ward 3 last year. He is a member of the firm of Fitzgerald & Lord, 555 Middlesex street, and was manager of the Highland-Daylight baseball team, champion of the Twilight league last summer. He lives at 6 Grand street.

James J. Gallagher is a member of the present city council and chairman of the committee on ordinances. He served under the old bicameral government and has always been active in municipal affairs. During the war he was chairman of Division 4 exemption board. He conducts confectionery stores in Merrimack street and lives at 188 Cumberland road.

Alexander E. Rountree is a former alderman and at present is a member of the park commission and has been active in municipal affairs for many years. He is a salesman and lives at Rogers street.

James J. Thompson is a practical street builder and has served in both the old board of aldermen and city council. He lives at 54 Lyon street.

Frank T. Gonkin was an unsuccessful candidate last year. He is a plumber and lives at 824 Rogers street.

Edward F. Purcell was also a candidate last year. He is foreman for the Lowell Fertilizer Co. He lives at 280 Fairmount street.

John E. Kearns is a former repres-

ALWAYS TIRED
NO AMBITION

Nervous and Dizzy, Everything Seemed to Worry Me. How I Got Well

Larwill, Indiana.—"My back was so bad I could not do my washing. I was always tired out and had no ambition, was nervous and dizzy and everything seemed to worry me and I had awful pains in my right side. I felt badly about four years and could not do my work as it should have been done. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised so much and it did so many people good that I began to take it myself. I am feeling fine now and everyone tells me they never saw me looking so well. I live on a farm, do all my work, and have three little girls to take care of. I am recommending this medicine to my friends and know it will help them if they use it like I do." —Mrs. HERBERT LONG, R. R. 8, Box 7, Larwill, Indiana.

Many women keep about their work when it is a great effort. They are always tired out and have no ambition. When you are in this condition give it prompt attention.

Take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, for it is especially adapted to correct such troubles, as it did to Mrs. Long.

William F. Newhall is a machinist. He lives at 1 Clifton avenue and was a candidate last year.

Leo J. Gauvreau was also a candidate last year. He lives at 124 South street and is listed as a student.

Francis J. Donahue is well known throughout the city. He has never held office before.

James J. Roddy lives at 12 Chestnut square. He is employed by the Ap-leton company and was a candidate a year ago.

John E. Regan lives at 36 Oliver street. He has been business agent of the local contractors' association for seven years, is president of the Jefferson club and a member of the Elks.

Is Bond as good as home-made?

The answer to above question will appear in this space tomorrow.

Yesterday's Question: Why is "Bond" well-baked?

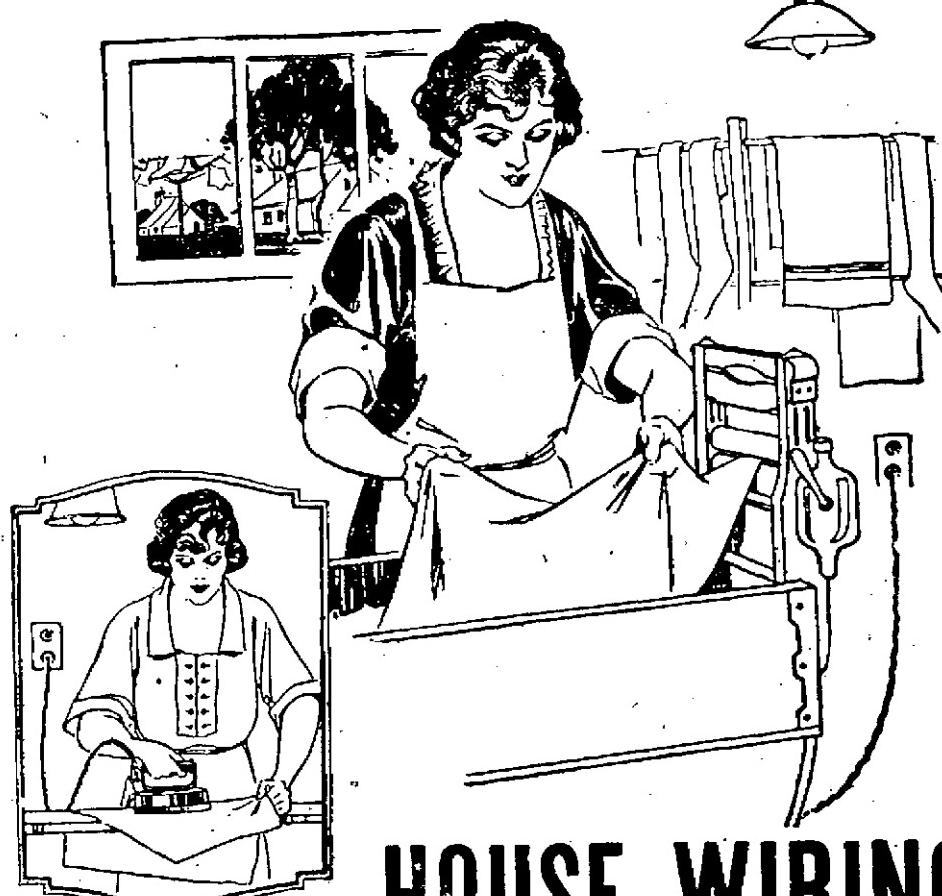

The Answer: The best home-made bread is baked thoroughly all the way through. Bond Bread is baked the same way, both in order to duplicate this quality of home-made and also in order to make Bond Bread easy to digest. Many, many people have written about Bond Bread's "healthfulness". Outside of Bond Bread's guaranteed purity of ingredients, perhaps the main reason for Bond Bread's healthfulness is the fact that every loaf is well-baked.

Paderewski Coming to Lowell

PADEREWSKI

Who Comes to Memorial Auditorium, Dec. 12

The retirement of Paderewski, the world's most notable pianist, from the concert stage in the summer of 1917 was as abrupt as it was unexpected. Following the close of his season in the spring he had gone to his California home for a long rest and his manager began to book him for an extensive tour the following winter. But the world was moving at a rapid pace in those days and with the entry of the United States into the World war, Paderewski saw in the near future the realization of his dream of a Polish army fighting in France under the White Eagle of Poland, commanded by Polish officers.

Tomorrow's bill at the B. F. Keith theatre will hold a host of good things, with Huston Ray, eminent pianist, as one of the topnotchers.

Mary Haynes, the girl with a dramatic voice and a high sense of stage values, will be one of the highlights.

White Claire Vincent & Co. will present an act which will do everybody good.

Other acts of the day will include Meehan & Newman, Brown & Whitaker,

The Brammings and Sutton & Gilbert.

Next week comes Thanksgiving—it falls on Thursday—and there will be three performances for the glistening reception at 1:30, 4 and 8 p.m.

Tickets are now on sale for the day.

The show will have a special flavor to it—it will be full of gaiety and snap. And, in front position will be the intimitable George Rolland supported by an excellent company in "Bringing Home the Christmas Tree."

Rolland is well known, having appeared here in "Fixing the Furnace."

His latest act is of the very first calibre.

"Opera and Jazz, Inc." with Geraldine Farrar, Jeanette Childs, Wesley Barry, Franklyn Farnum, McSovereign, Reddington & Grant, and the Dixie Four.

McSovereign is the master of dash

playing, one of the most difficult way through.

RIALTO THEATRE

Two Excellent Features on the Sunday Program at the Rialto—Monday

and Tuesday Bills

In his program for Sunday, Manager George E. Hammond has booked up two features which should prove unusually attractive. They are "The County Fair," with Wesley Barry, the leading solo, and "Convict '93" with Jeanette Childs in the title role. An Arrow comedy entitled "Love Drops," and a Christie comedy entitled "Idle Workers," complete the program.

Wesley Barry's boyish appearance and his face just full of freckles make him a favorite.

The Four Rubini Sisters are charming young women. Really, there are four in the act, for Jan Rubini, the father, appears with the girls.

They however, run the greater part of the act, and they give a recital of songs and music.

Jeanette Childs is acclaimed "The Joy Girl" availing that she at-times is so good to look upon, dresses well, sings well and she possesses real humor. Little wonder she is a favorite.

McSovereign is the master of dash

Big Advance Sale of Course Tickets
For the Star Series in Auditorium

SERGEI RACHMANINOFF

FRITZ KREISLER

GERALDINE FARRAR

The advance sale of course tickets for the Star Series justifies the business judgment of the management in offering such a proposition to Lowell musicians and music-lovers. The plan of a series is something new in Lowell, but many cities have taken to the idea as a permanent thing. The advantage of the course ticket is mutual. To the purchaser of concert tickets it materially reduces the cost of a concert and saves him the inconvenience of seeking tickets for each concert. To the manager it saves a great deal of detail insofar as he has the chance to plan for three concerts together instead of three separate ones.

In the case of the Star Series there comes to the front in the great story, "The County Fair." It is a typical picture of the average American boy full of life and vigor and displays his many adventures with faithfulness and truth.

"Convict '93" is an unusual melodrama of love and intrigue and introduces Irene Castle in an exceptionally good role. Her recent appearance in Lowell should make the Lowell public more attractive for Lowell performances.

In the booking for Monday the feature bookings in B. F. Griffith's great work, "Dream Street." It is Griffith's latest production and outclasses anything he has done for the screen hitherto. The picture is a dramatic comedy which deals with the lives of the young people of Thomas Gillette's little-known stories written under the title "Gina of Chinatown" and "The Sign of the Lamp." Griffith has dramatized both in a way that will appeal to all lovers of the screen.

Other supporting features for Monday and Tuesday consist of an episode in "The Days of an Empire," a Universal comedy entitled "The Life of the Show," and the Rialto News Review.

THE STRAND

BIG BILL at the Strand Beginning Tomorrow—Don't Fail to See John Barrymore in "Sherlock Holmes"

Of the many notable motion picture productions brought to the Strand during the last several months, none brings greater interest to the large majority of picture patrons, the continuing presentation of John Barrymore in "Sherlock Holmes," adapted from William Gillette's successful stage production, and inspired by the worldwide detective stories by Sir Arthur Conan Doyle. There are others, however, who have not read one or more of Sir Arthur's gripping stories concerning that mythical character, "Sherlock Holmes." Few there are also who have not enjoyed the stage interpretation of these famous stories. Now comes the screen version, with its wealth of detail to be brought out, and an engrossing case that compares favorably with the best ever gotten together for a high class picturization. This feature is to be shown at the Strand for four days, commencing with Sunday, the usual Sunday vaudeville will be given.

MERCHANT MARINE BILL SLATED FOR EARLY ENACTMENT BY CONGRESS

Congressman Rogers' Opinion of the President's Message and the Subsidy Bill—Mrs. Felton of Georgia Made Senator for a Day Was Greeted by Many Representative of Suffrage Organizations—Ladies' Day in Senate—Shriners' "Baby" Joke Busted

(Special to The Sun)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 25.—The question of passing a merchant marine bill with ship subsidy attached is the foremost question now before congress. The vote in the house this week, on a special rule to permit immediate action with limited debate may seem to indicate the question will be settled on partisan lines, with full support of the Republicans and strong opposition by the democrats. Under ground comment, however, makes that unlikely. That is where the issue is taken.

This is especially true in the senate, where already it is planned to hold a democratic conference on the matter within a short time. Senators who intend to support the bill, but who are lined up with the democrats, do not want their names used at this moment, but it is a sure thing—so far as anything can be sure in Senate predictions—that a number of leading democratic senators favor a merchant marine and realize such a measure cannot be made effective without a subsidy.

Whether they will vote for the measure in its present form as urged by President Harding, or whether they will introduce amendments of their own, which they believe will meet the approval of republicans and so get enough votes to pass the bill at this moment, cannot be even predicted at this moment. But the fact remains that number of democratic leaders will urge the passage of merchant marine bill and with it will urge a sufficient subsidy to make it a going concern.

New England is especially fervent in its advocacy of such a measure, and it is a safe prediction that when the vote is taken, New England senators and members of congress will stand solid for the bill, regardless of their political affiliations.

Congressman Rogers' Opinion

Congressman Rogers of Lowell said, at the close of the president's address this week: "It was the strongest and most forceful address President Harding has ever delivered before congress. I believe fully in an American merchant marine and I realize that some sort of a subsidy is necessary to carry it out. The matter of detail of the bill is of relatively small importance. The United States needs its own merchant marine. Such a fleet is already established and it becomes a question of either throwing it away or utilizing ships that we already possess. Until the bill is actually before us in a form ready for final vote, it is useless to discuss details. But I am fully in accord with the president's urgent plea that such a merchant marine be provided without loss of time."

Other members of the Massachusetts delegation express similar views. Senator Walsh was not ready to express an opinion, but rumor has it that he is wide awake to the needs of New England along the line of ocean transportation.

The First Woman Senator

When congress convened, it was the senate that drew the crowds. And it was on the white-haired lady from Georgia, Mrs. Felton, on whom all interest centered. For Mrs. Felton aspired to serve at least one day in the senate of the United States under appointment of the governor from Georgia, and sat in the back row on the democratic side of the senate with her credentials rolled tightly in her hand. She took no chances of being suddenly called to the rostrum.

Mrs. Felton is of medium height and her 87 years of strenuous life are plainly written on her pale face, by lines and wrinkles. She bore herself with dignity; but as she sat in the back row of the senate chamber, surrounded by admiring spectators, she looked her age, although making a picturesque figure in a simple dress of black, wearing a big lace shawl of rare old lace and with her abundant white

Firemen Find Body of Miss Hopkins in Front of Furnace of Home

PORTLAND, Me., Nov. 25.—The body of Miss Gertrude A. Hopkins, a stenographer, was found in front of the furnace in her home on Brackett street by firemen who were called to extinguish a blaze in the house today. She had been burned to death, supposedly by a backfire from the furnace while she was burning some rubbish.

The firemen took her invalid mother in a second story window when smoke penetrated the house. The damage was slight.

APPEALS FOR WORK IN HOUR OF DISTRESS

Who among the members of the "Good Cheer" club of Lowell with warm and sympathetic hearts is prepared to give temporary employment to otherwise aid a worthy widow lady, Lowell born and bred who has been unable to find steady employment now in need of funds necessary to obtain plain food and warm clothing for the winter?

Has any sympathetic reader of The Sun, man or woman, a place for this young mother who is not used to hard labor and yet is anxious to earn a living and obtain a little money with which to purchase the common necessities of life?

A deserving case has been referred to The Sun today and is called to the attention of Sun readers, some of whom may be familiar with the case, especially those from whom the pathetic appeal has come.

The letter asking for aid is self-explanatory. It is as follows:

Lowell, Mass., Nov. 25, 1922.

"Dear Mr. Editor:

"The Lowell Sun,

"I am a widow and work very bad?

"Will some kind boss in either mill or shop please give a job to a widow who needs work very bad? I am a widow of 35 and cannot work standing on my feet all day. But if some person could only give me work where I could sit down once in a while, it would be a great favor to me."

"MRS. E. J. B."

The Sun has the name and address of "Mrs. E. J. B." The case has been fully investigated and the woman is deserving of aid.

AMHERSTETON WOMEN'S AUXILIARY

Taking as his subject "The Religion of Love," Prof. Francis L. Stetson, head of the department of psychology and religion at Boston university, addressed the women's auxiliary at the Y.M.C.A. yesterday afternoon. Mrs. George Sturtevant, president of the organization, was in charge of the meeting.

land, with a tooth recently, at the age of three weeks, had to have it extracted.

"THE OLD FARMERS' ALMANACK" FOR 1923

One hundred and thirty-one years old and still young in vitality as of yore. "The Old Farmers' Almanack" for 1923 has just arrived.

If Robert B. Thomas, all-round genius with the pen and authority on matters of general interest in his time, were alive today, he would have no trouble recognizing the familiar yellow-covered 64-page book and even in its dress of modern type and paper.

A perusal of the little "Almanac" shows, however, that many of the ancient features that proved useful from year to year since 1793 for thousands of readers in the U.S.A. are still included in the volume of "new, useful and entertaining matter" as the introduction describes it concisely.

As usual, the "Almanac" is reprinted on a new and improved plan for the year of our Lord 1923, being third after bissextile of leap year, and containing 100 pages.

Manufactured foods have the Vitamins destroyed in the process of manufacture. Some fruit juices are rich in vitamins. A careful examination of experiments conducted by both British and American authorities shows that Oranges contain an abundance of both "B" and "C" Vitamines and Apples contain a relatively large amount of these vital substances.

Why is it that "Fruit-a-tives" gives such marvelous results in overcoming Constipation, Impure Blood, Starved Nerves and a rundown system?

Because "Fruit-a-tives" is a true fruit medicine—the only medicine in the world made from intensified fruit juices. "Fruit-a-tives" is rich in the "B" and "C" Vitamines, derived from the juices of oranges and apples.

To take "Fruit-a-tives" regularly, is to supply the system with the Vitamins which are needed and which are absolutely necessary to health.

HELD BENEFIT DANCE AND TESTIMONIAL

A benefit dance and testimonial was held last evening in Thomas Talbot Memorial hall in North Billerica for a member of the Wildcat football team, the affair being conducted under the auspices of the organization. The affair was a success in every way and netted a very substantial sum. In the early part of the evening there were entertainment numbers by James H. Gannon, Mrs. John McDermott, Walter & McGrail, Charles Clegg, John McArdle, John Kelley, John Kelly, George Donohue and Bill Al Forrest and Nell K. Mahoney. Later general dancing was started and continued till a reasonable hour.

The committee in charge were as follows: Chairman, Henry Sullivan; Edward Barton, John Maxwell; refreshments, John J. Lyons, John Connon, Cheekie, Howard Conway, George and James Cassidy; treasurer, Carl Lutender; assistants, Charles Buckley, John H. Trahan, Bert McNamee, George Bowring, George Ennis, William McNulty, Walter Sullivan, H. Tice, T. Collings, R. Condon, Geo. Ennon, John Bradley, John J. McSweeney, H. Sidney, F. Shethan, James Chambers, L. Desmond, Joseph Cook, Edward Cook, N. A. Ritchie, C. Boulski, H. Condon, C. McCann, C. Hanlett, Charles Mahoney, L. Mahoney and Thomas Higgins.

O'SULLIVAN REPLIES TO OPPONENT

Jeremiah J. O'Sullivan, candidate for mayor, continued his campaign tour last night, with a series of outdoor and indoor speeches. Mr. O'Sullivan took occasion to contradict a statement accredited to him by one of his opponents, who in speeches at several meetings last night said: "O'Sullivan is going around telling you he's going to reduce the tax rate." "This charge is untrue," said Mr. O'Sullivan. "I never made such an assertion, for my experience in the assessors' office gave me a fair knowledge of the city's finances, and ever since I opened this campaign I have said and will continue to say, that as a result of the expenditures made this year, which have brought us to within $151 from the debt limit, the tax rate next year is inevitable." He stressed the number of removals, etc., during the year and concluded with a plea to select men who will eliminate the friction at city hall and bring about the administration of city affairs.

WHAT WILL THE VOTERS DO?

Whether we shall have good government or bad next year will depend very largely upon the judgment shown by the voters at the primaries next Tuesday. To the citizens is left the important duty of sifting the candidates so as to put a much smaller number before the electorate at the final election. This is a heavy responsibility placed upon the shoulders of the voters, far heavier perhaps than most of them realize.

Under the old charter the nominations for municipal offices were made by party conventions. We had then partisan government, democratic and republican. Each party held separate caucuses to elect delegates to its nominating convention. In selecting candidates, it knew that if it nominated weak or undesirable men, they would have no chance of election. The result was that while the voters of each party usually supported their ticket, they refused to support any unworthy candidate. As a result, the best men on both tickets were usually elected and the grafters, and professional politicians were as a rule rejected.

That system worked well, but it was abandoned because of the deadlocks resulting from the opposing parties in either branch of the city council, or between both branches and the mayor. Partisan politics was abandoned and the primary law adopted under which candidates come forward voluntarily and those who receive the highest number of votes for the office sought are nominated. The scramble for office attended as it is by outdoor speaking, advertising and appeals to the voters, has deterred many of the most capable men from becoming candidates. That is the chief weakness of the primary system. The majority of the business and professional men who would accept a nomination coming from a political convention are unwilling to go out and fight for it in the manner now customary. Unless a candidate does this he is not likely to have much chance of success.

Here then is the explanation of the great responsibility cast upon the voters. They are the convention; but they are limited in their choice to the list of candidates on the primary ballot. From that list, however, a very good city government of mayor, council and school board can be chosen, if—yes, "if" the voters show good judgment in rejecting the undesirable candidates. Who are the undesirables?

We have already tried to explain this, or to lay down a rule to guide the voters who really want to support the best men, and to eliminate the undesirable. Here it is: Vote for no candidate who is not known to be:

- (a) Strictly honest and reliable and—
- (b) Fully qualified by training and experience to discharge the duties of the office to which he or she aspires.

We put honesty first because if a dishonest candidate is elected, he will cheat and rob the city in spite of all who may try to watch him. Moreover, while doing this he will make the highest protestations of strict honesty and devotion to the interests of the people. As to the experience necessary, that which comes from political trickery, either in or out of office, is not the kind that counts for good government.

Finally let it be said that a great many false stories are put in circulation in order to fool the voters. If the latter are so easily gulled by political claptrap, it is useless to advise them.

The people in the primary elections are sovereign. Let each voter exercise his or her part of this sovereignty honestly and fearlessly for the best interests of our beloved city.

THE COAL SUPPLY

With the advent of real cold weather comes the question as to how the families whose coal bins are empty can keep warm. The only recourse seems to be to find a substitute for anthracite either in wood or in soft coal. The average house stove is not well adapted to the use of soft coal, but with skill such coal can be used in any coal stove with fair success. It does not seem probable that the supply of hard coal will undergo any material increase with the coming of cold weather.

At the end of the strike, the coal supply was 40 per cent short of the normal for that time of year, and perhaps there was an equal shortage in the supply in the cellars throughout the country. The railroads are rushing coal to the Great Lakes region, while in a couple of weeks will be cut off from further supplies on account of the ice. The middle west is also on the preferred list and, as usual, New England will come afterwards.

State Fuel Administrator James J. Phelan has just reported to Governor Cox that in his estimation, the shortage of hard coal for the present winter will not be less than 1,164,000 tons. Between April and Nov. 1 of this year we have had 2,164,000 tons less than last year; but Mr. Phelan hopes to pull down this amount to 1,164,000 tons before April 1 of next year. That, however, does not offer much encouragement for the coldest months of midwinter in the meantime. This offers but fresh proof that the prudent thing to do for those who have no coal, is to secure substitutes of some kind, whether soft coal, wood, oil, or gas.

SECRET COTTON CONFERENCE

Another Washington conference has been conducted "behind closed doors," the dispatches say. And this time the "closed door" conference, which should have been wide open for all to see and hear, we believe, was held for the purpose of outlining a policy in regard to cotton. All "phases" of the cotton industry, we are told, were discussed behind the doors, which we presume means that even the screens on the windows were also drawn to maintain perfect cover and secrecy.

Members of the department of agriculture's cotton council in the cotton conference—whose salaries are paid by the people of the nation—were included in the closed-door meeting where the public was excluded. Presidents, directors of colleges of the southern states where cotton is grown extensively, and experts in cotton-growing and marketing, were brought together to define a policy with regard to every phase of the cotton industry.

The country would like to know what actually went on behind those big doors in Washington. Is cotton to go up still higher or are the planters to limit their next crop to keep up the price?

FARMERS

Mr. Thomas J. Ryan of Oregon, who was visiting relatives here this week, told the writer about a farmer in that state, who got a painter to do some painting on his house. The painter charged a dollar an hour, and for his day's work of eight hours the farmer where workmen have been hard to obtain and extra men were needed. There have been indications, too, that in some textile centers wages are soon to be advanced a little, particularly in departments where the finer class of work is turned out and where skilled labor is at a premium.

THE BUILDING SURVEY

Another month of the most successful year in the history of the building industry of the country has added new accomplishments to the records, reports a New York house closely connected with the building trades, high and low. Material and labor costs are holding firm, and revealing an upward trend in many localities, and yet the volume of building operations for the whole country, during the month of November, has maintained substantially the same percentage of increase over the corresponding period of 1921, as shown in October, approximately 20 per cent.

Practically every state and city of importance in the country has, during the eleven months of the present year, surpassed its total of building for the entire year of 1921. The "seasonable decline," which is usually pronounced in November, has this year been exceptionally light through the country.

BUSY FRATERNITIES

Numerous Lowell fraternal organizations are reported to be renovating old quarters or securing new ones for coming membership campaigns and winter social and fraternal events. At least two popular local orders are installed in new quarters where more room is found for lodge meetings, banquets and socials. The expansion in some quarters is due not only to the healthy growth of several fraternal orders, but because cramped quarters can no longer be endured.

It is a sign of genuine activity in social quarters of the city and vicinity, to see these meetings places being enlarged and better equipped for fraternal gatherings to meet the spirit of the times.

Other cities report hall rooms hardly adequate to meet the demand for such organizations. There is room for all in Lowell, however, even with some quarters still rather inadequate to meet present demands.

FOX-HUNTING

Dogs worth as much as $100 apiece were assisted by people on horseback, in the 29th annual chase of the National Association of Fox Hunters, near Washington Court House, Ohio.

If you followed the news about this meet, you must have noticed that it was against the rules to kill a fox. Each hunter's aim was to get a "good report card" for his dog. A queer "sport," with human beings fading to the background and everything revolving around the dogs.

It reminds you of Abe Martin's compony on "Uncle Tom's Cabin" show: "The dogs were good, but they had poor support."

PILOTLESS AIRPLANE

A pilotless airplane, which runs itself automatically without a human being aboard, makes a flight of mere 30 miles.

Our army developed this plane. Its possibilities for warfare, carrying loads of high explosives to enemy camps and cities, make you shudder.

The possibility of controlling torpedoes in the ocean and airplanes in the upper air by wireless are amazing.

They make one shudder in contemplation of what will occur in the next great war. The time of laying siege to any city has gone by. The enemy can launch airplanes to destroy it.

WINTER

This winter will be colder than last, predicts Dr. Philmon H. Dudley. If you are a railroader, his name adds weight. He is weather expert for the New York Central Lines.

For the old-timer who claims "we don't have the cold winters we used to," Dudley tells this:

"I was in Cleveland, O., on Jan. 1, 1876. The day was so warm that several gentlemen dressed in their linen coats to make their New Year calls, and recorded in their diaries how warm the weather was."

That was an off winter, so to speak, but seasons that get away from the average weather usually have their compensations. We have had several days that broke the record for a great many years. There will probably be a squaring up on the temperature before the winter is over.

MIGRATORY BIRDS

John D. Rockefeller starts south. He needs a vacation. He does not get away from the north to escape the cold climate because John D. has plenty of oil to keep him warm; but he has reached good old age and the southern climate will agree with him. Unfortunately it is not everybody who can imitate this migration birds and move south at the approach of cold weather—or a cold famine.

TO WAR STAMP HOLDERS

Those thrifty holders who do not care to receive cash in full payment for war savings stamps, may be interested to know that if treasury savings certificates are desired for all of the stamps presented for redemption, these certificates will be issued at once and dated January 1, 1923, then the difference between the cost of these certificates and the maturity value of the stamps presented will be paid immediately in cash, thus definitely closing the transaction.

COST OF LIVING

The National Industrial Conference figures out that there was an increase of 6 per cent in the cost of living during October. Although these figures are not infallible, they may be as accurate as any, although they may be far from accurate for some places. But assuming that the statement is correct, then the present cost of living is 57 per cent higher than when the war started in Europe or in 1914. That is much lower than it has been

Made Bad Break

A bad break in the clergyman's sermon is reported in a local paper. After appealing to the old with "And you, old man, with your hoary head," turned to the young man with the appeal: "And you, young man, with your blooming cheek." He tried to change the phrase, but he was too

Smart or Straight

There was no sign above the tiny office to denote what went on inside, except that it was a general agency. But underneath that description was the following sentence: "Anything you want at a moment's notice." So the humorist knocked, entered and found himself facing a sleek young man across a small desk-table. "Want a lawyer," said the humorist. "Want, sir," said the young man. "Smart or straight?"

Illuminated Address

The business man was boasting to his actor friend. "Your profession may be very lofty and highbrow in an artistic sense," he said, "but look at me. I have retired at the early age of 45, and have been presented by my fellow merchants with an illuminated address. Have you ever seen an illuminated address?" "I have," replied the actor. "Once." "When?" asked his friend. "When? When my lodgings caught fire."

What He Left Behind

Fr. Bernard Vaughan was traveling in his carriage, and an occupant of his carriage began making offensive remarks about the clergy. Fr. Vaughan said nothing, reserving his one remark for the parson. The parson occurred at few stations farther on, when the man alighted. Fr. Vaughan popped his head out of the window and called out: "You've lost something behind." "What is it?" cried the man, hurrying back into the carriage. "A very unpleasant impression," came the swift retort. And the smile was on the face of Fr. Vaughan.

Turned Joke on Hubby

He was fond of playing silly jokes on his wife and this time he thought he had gotten away with it. "My dearest," he said as they sat at supper, "I heard such a sad story of a young girl today. They thought she was going blind and so a surgeon operated on her and found—" "Yes," gasped the wife, breathlessly. "That she had a young man in her eye," ended the husband with a chuckle. Then the woman remarked slowly: "Well, it would depend on what sort of a man he was. Some of them she could see through easily enough."

Song

I like to think, when stars prick out
To laugh and glimmer from the height of blue,
That they are laughing more than happily,
Beloved, over you.

I like to think, when winds without my door
Whisper a haunting melody that thrills,
And may have sung to you not long ago
Afar among the hills.

I like to think, when dawn flowers like a rose,
To mount the sky as swift as bird on wing,
At that same moment yet another day for you is blossoming.

Thus each hour's miracles, by beauty wrought,
But bring us nearer, who have little to do
And my thoughts reach you across leagues of ale.

To touch you with a song,

Street Railway Men Danced

Says the old Sun: "For once in a long time, the street railway employees from starter to square man, threw their cares to the winds and enjoyed life to their heart's content. The motormen forgot the switches, the conductor his transits, the construction man his sledges and all tackled the dance with the proper spirit, making the third annual concert and ball of the Lowell and Suburban Street Railroad Employees' Relief association, a most successful and enjoyable affair."

"This association was formed about two years ago and its object is to give financial relief to members who may be incapacitated from work by illness or accident. Since its beginning, it has paid out over $2,000, the amount per week being $6.

"The success of the affair depended greatly upon the efforts of the following officers: General manager, Charles D. West; assistant, Thomas F. Lomeran; door director, William A. Hayes; assistant, Michael J. Manning; cashier, Frank J. Conroy; aids, John S. Joyce, Michael P. O'Hare, John H. McNamee, Joseph Moore, John McNamee, Andrew C. Jones, John McNamee; reception committee, T. J. Hayes, chairman; Maurice M. Nash, F. W. Wood, James O. Ellis, William H. Murphy, M. E. O'Donnell, J. K. Whelchett, Thomas Lee, M. F. Clark, Albert J. McNamee and Daniel Flanagan."

The new Bartlett school was dedicated yesterday afternoon to its most pleasant and important work—the education of youth. The big ball of the school was crowded when the exercises began at 2:30 o'clock. The pupils marched from their respective rooms to the hall, where Dr. R. H. played a lively march. Then all uniting in singing Keller's American hymn, "Rev. W. A. Bartlett invoked the divine blessing, and then Alderman Coward, acting as the representative of Alderman Charles E. Howe, chairman of the committee on lands and buildings, in a brief speech formally delivered the building to the chairman of the school board, Mr. Andrew G. Swan.

"After the singing of the dedication hymn, Solon W. Stevens, Esq., presented the portrait of Mr. Samuel Remond, Mr. Stevens' address was a very scholarly one and he said: 'There are hosts of people living in Lowell and in distant localities, a portion of whom years were spent under the influence of Mr. Samuel Remond, as a teacher, in whose memory the names of Samuel Remond and the Bartlett school are synonymous terms. In 1850 Mr. Remond was chosen master of the old Adams school. For 36 years of continuous service he wrought his name into the history of the Bartlett school.'

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN

Speaking of Lowell charities, Sun readers will possibly remember that many years before the local Goodwill organization was formed, there was a used clothing store conducted by the Federation of Churches, doing excellent work among the poor of the city and providing essentials of great value all the year around. The institution served its time and declined, and in the early spring of 1920 a number of interested Lowell women met in conference and discussed the possibility of continuing the work. An organization was formed and the "Goodwill Clothing Store" was started for certain afternoons each week. About 100 bags were distributed, and the material received, repaired by volunteer workers. The sales the first season were small, but sufficient to indicate a real need for that kind of a store.

SALEM TIED FOR LEADCADETS PLAY STRONG BUNKER HILL TEAM

Victory Over Lowell Puts "Witches" on Even Terms With Whalers

Lefty Tyler's Salem team went into a tie for the lead in the National Roller Polo league, by winning over Lowell at the Crescent Rink last night in an exciting game of polo. The score was 8 to 7.

Lowell came within an ace of landing the verdict, a rally in the final period netting the Gray three goals. With fans on edge and pulling for a tie score, the big horn sounded and Lowell's hopes were blustered.

Kid Williams had particularly hard luck, for in addition to having three "in-and-outs," he also hit the cage bar several times. The ball certainly did not roll Lowell's way, and the spectators from the Salem victory noted that when Gert Tendotte of the visiting aggregation had horseshoes dangling all over him, he played a good game, but he was greatly aided by the breaks.

Molly Morrison joined the Lowell team, while Al Mitchell, who was injured two weeks ago, is still on the inactive list. Mitch was on hand, but he wore a bandage over the injured lamp. He informed Captain Harkins that it would be some time before his own maimed condition showed up again, and he was well received by the fans.

Lowell found the Salem defense a great barrier, particularly in the early stages. Brown's pulling and lunging minimized Kid Williams' efforts.

In the final section, the kid broke away from the Salem back and his dazzling playing was productive of three goals. Harkins played his customary good game, while Hardy also turned in a fine exhibition of combination, running and defensive play.

Lowell's attack at goal was not up to the mark, and while he did make a number of difficult stops, he also missed several easy ones that had much to do with shaping victory. Witchway, the scoring hero, his stickwork being responsible for five bulletpoints, Bouchard or Bushy, as Jess Burkett called him, was all to the good as Hart's pal on the rush line. He did some pretty fancy foot work, and it worked.

Dufresne was a power of strength at center and Brown at halfback gave the local rushes much trouble. Dufresne and Brown also gave their goal tender good support, playing close to the cage when Lowell threatened.

Lowell got away to a good start but the advantage was short lived. After two by Harkins, Hart got a brace and Brown landed one for a 3 to 2 count in the second session. Hart and Bouchard registered after which Hart came on with a long drive that beat the pull by Gert's pads. Hart again counted while just before the period ended Harkins got another for Salem; Salem 6, Lowell 4.

As the third period got under way, both teams had Hart coming to the front with goals for an 8 to 4 count. At this point Lowell cut loose a great burst of speed, while Lovegreen tightened up. Williams registered a brace and Harkins landed one, which put the score to 10 to 4 in favor of the visitors.

The fans clumped for another and Lowell worked desperately to grapple their wishes, but the reality like the famous pardon, came too late, as the big horn sounded terminating

CORNELL GAME IS PENN'S OBJECTIVE

(By NEA Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 26.—The success or failure of University of Pennsylvania's football season will depend on the outcome of the Thanksgiving day game with Cornell. That is the big game of the year from Pennsylvania's point of view, winding it down to any other unpleasant incidents of the season.

Pennsylvania unquestionably has the material for a great team. In most of the games this year it has looked the part, and if it has been only mediocre, it is due to the fact that it has not been able to play its best.

After a season filled with joy and gloom, Holmgren is again pointing his team, or the big game of the year.

enough to be beaten by Alabama 9 to 7. Alabama had previously been overwhelmed by Georgia Tech, which had been trounced by the Navy.

Then came another reverse at the hands of University of Pittsburgh at the hands of Pitt 6 to 6. Coach Holmgren finally got his pupils into winning ways once more when Penn State was beaten 7 to 6.

TWO GAMES AT SPALDING PARK TOMORROW

INTEND TO ELIMINATE BARNSTORMING

(By NEA Service)
CHICAGO, Nov. 26.—Major league magnates are convinced that some drastic action must be taken relative to barnstorming trips after the close of the season.

A year ago when Judge Landis took action in the Ruth-Meusel case there was a strong sentiment in favor of the players among the major league magnates.

It was felt that it was wrong to refuse the right to barnstorm to players who had taken part in the world series.

Things have changed greatly in 12 short months practically every manager feels that the players must be held in check. It is certain that definite action will be taken in this phase of the sport at the coming meeting of the two major leagues.

It is admitted that some of the barnstorming teams in the west have not taken any good care of themselves.

Failure to keep in condition has naturally affected their play and caused a number of the big league clubs to be badly beaten by small town teams.

A team made up entirely of major league players engaged in a series with a colored professional team with St. Louis and was badly worsted.

The Kansas City club of the American Association played a six-game series against the Monarchs of the city, a professional colored club, and won only one game.

If all barnstorming trips are eliminated after the close of the season the players will have only themselves to blame. They will have brought about their condition.

President Johnson of the American League admits that barnstorming has become a serious menace. He also says that the club owners in his league have already given the matter much thought.

According to President Johnson a 12-month contract with the players, rather than one extending over only six months, is being advocated.

This contract would call for the exclusive rights to the services of the players for a definite period of time, and would extend from Jan. 1 of each year until the close, or over a period of years.

The players would receive their pay checks in the winter just as in the summer. Such a arrangement, it is believed, would make it possible for the owners to control the actions of the players in the winter as well as summer.

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

If "Deak" Dodge can hook up the men he is after Lowell boxing fans will see a great number of well-dressed fighters. He is one of the match all set, but is experiencing some difficulty in signing up the other man. He is confident however, of completing the negotiations today. He plans to stage the show on the afternoon of Thanksgiving day but has to be in state of the bouts in order not to conflict with any other afternoon sports, and also plans to get the show over so as not to interfere with events of the evening.

Harry Foley, who has turned in two professional exhibitions here, first against Leo Drosdors and then against Billie Blackie, has made a great many friends in this city. He's a real fighter, one who will meet an opponent at any style, even willing to trade walking and the possession of a terrific punch. Fans hope to see him often.

On Thanksgiving evening basketball will get under way at the Crescent rink, when the Windblow club team, managed by Jimmy Keenan, will play the 14 whiz kids against the fast folks, N. J. Quintet. Keenan has assembled a strong team, with four local players and the well known Arthur Ryan of Nashua as members. Ryan played a few games here last season with Bucky Lew's team.

His nephew, Richard, also played with Lew, who is the older of the two and the more finished player. He's one of the best centers in this section and is a tower of strength to any team. He will do the jumping for Keenan's team on the holiday. Low and Paddy McGowan will play guards and Keenan and Danny O'Con-or will be the forwards. The Milton team is a fine outfit, with one that has an fine record during the past few seasons. Billy Wilson of Lowell will referee.

A change in the local polo schedule comes next week when Lowell will play on Monday night instead of the regular night, Tuesday. This change was brought about because Providence was unable to secure its hall on Monday, and the local managers agreed to the shift. On Monday night Fred Jean and his Worcester team will come along, while the Worcester team is playing alone, under the capable leadership of the "Big fellow." The Pierce brothers, Steve and Earl are setting a fast pace on the rush line, while the defense with Jean, Murthead and Conley on the job, is without doubt the best in the league.

Mike Castle, the sensational Lawrence boxer, who meets Billy Massett, the Pacific bantam, at the Lawrence city hall Monday night, has been matched to boxer Irish Johnny Conroy of New Bedford. The former afternoon, afternoon, he is also negotiating through his manager, Jack Wagner, for a bout in Boston with Danny Edwards.

The complete polo league schedule for next week follows: Monday—Worcester at Lowell, New Bedford at Portland, Tuesday—Lowell at Salem, Worcester at New Bedford, Portland at Providence, Thursday afternoon—Providence at Worcester, Thursday evening—Lowell at Portland, Salem at New Bedford, Worcester at Providence, Friday—Portland at Salem, Saturday—Lowell New Bedford at Salem, Sunday—Lowell at Portland, Salem at Providence.

Leonard Stroud, former world's champion rider, gave his broncho a chance for revenge on his mechanical rival in this brilliant test of horsemanship. In one magnificent leap the spirited animal carried his rider over the high touring car.

FAST BOXING BOUTS AT MASS. MILLS

The boxing bouts under the auspices of the Massachusetts Mills Athletic association have planned to attend an illustrated lecture to be given in the First Universalist church next Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Eddie Jones to be the speaker. His subject, "Avaline, the Sportsman's Paradise," will be illustrated by stereopticon, with all slides new and never exhibited in this vicinity before. They will include views of fishing, hunting and camping grounds and will be thoroughly reviewed by Mr. Jones, an ardent sportsman and a favorite with all fish and game association enthusiasts.

No tickets are required of members of the local association who may desire to attend this lecture.

THANKSGIVING GAME IN LAWRENCE

The big Turkey day game between the high school football teams of Lowell and Lawrence will be the last one for either of these teams this season. The officials for the game, which will be played at O'Sullivan Park, Lawrence, as follows: Referee, Joseph B. Pendleton; Bowdoin, Everett, Everett, Ireland, Tufts; Head Judge, Oswald Tower, Andover; Head Linesman, W. S. Kendall.

SIMPLE SET GOOD VALUE

Radio Received Without Aerial Shows Up Well in Rigid Test

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—What is believed to be the most simple, and yet most efficient, radio receiving instrument made has just been demonstrated here by its inventor, David Grimes.

Grimes was graduated from the University of Minnesota as an electrical engineer. During the time he was assigned to radio work in connection with the post service and was instructor in radio at Kelly Field. There he has done special work in radio for the government and private interests.

The instrument Grimes has prepared is of special interest in that it can receive a broadcast message or concert without the use of an aerial, ground wire or outside connection of any sort. In fact, Grimes says it will receive clearly through static or other interference.

In his demonstration Grimes installed the receiver on an automobile and rode over a tortuous route, in order to test it against directional effect. He showed, throughout, the fact that the instrument could receive a concert from a nearby broadcasting station equally effective from one direction.

More startling, however, was the success with which Grimes had in the concert while his car raced at varying speeds, almost up to 60 miles an hour. The hum of the motor, the wind resistance and jarring of the car had little effect on the instrument, "it has performed with complete satisfaction," says Grimes of his invention. "aboard ships in the Atlantic ocean, as well as on railroad trains; during trial demonstrations I can see no reason why it should not operate thousands of feet above the earth in a fast airplane."

WIRELESS STATION FOR NEW ZEALAND

SYDNEY, N. S. W., Nov. 24.—The opening of a high-power wireless station for New Zealand, which would be able to communicate with the large stations of America, Great Britain and Europe, is under consideration, the postmaster-general has informed the Dominion house of representatives.

The government is considering whether it should establish a station which would render the Dominion independent of the empire chain system for purposes of world wide communication, he said.

The cost of setting to work a station capable of communicating with any part of the world would be about 400,000 pounds sterling, he estimated.

DOMESTIC SCIENCE BUNGALOW OPENING

Although several weeks away yet members of the Parent-Teachers association of the Morey school are looking forward to a meeting of special interest in January at which time it is hoped to have the formal opening of the domestic science bungalow for use in the girls' work at the school.

The association was helpful in securing these quarters and has been anxious to see the work carried through as quickly as possible. The building will allow for regular work with one set of classes in cooking and in sewing. It also provides for more intensive small group work in regular home making routine as there is a kitchen, a dining room, a living room and a bed room as well as a separate heating plant.

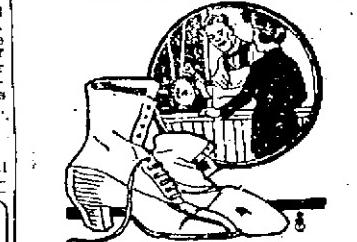

It is expected that the first week in January the opening exercises will be held. The pupils have been very anxious to start putting their new house in order.

Take an office at 391 Broadway. Mr. McDermott is very active in his line of business and counts among his patrons some of the best residents of this city. COAL ONLY $13.75 A TON IN NEW YORK CITY

Hard coal is selling for $13.75 a ton in New York city, and best of all, it's at that rate according to a letter received today by John Murphy, Jr., of 201 Smith street, Lowell, from his son, John Murphy, Jr., who resides in New York.

The Lowell man brought the advice to The Sun office today, with a little notation adding that early this week he bought a ton of anthracite coal from a Lowell coal merchant and was obliged to pay $15.50 for it. The Lowell coal was stove grade.

The price in New York city, according to Murphy, Jr., is fixed by a commission, and any dealers selling coal for more than $13.75 is liable to arrest and prosecution, so rightly are the fuel emergency laws enforced in city and state.

The New Yorker also informed his father here, in another part of his letter, that he has sent in an order for eight more tons of anthracite at an Edison Avenue coal yard, and deliveries will shortly be made, he was told, at the $13.75 price. Mr. Murphy lives at 371 Bronx Park avenue, New York City.

"The price of coal in Lowell today at the place where I got my ton of anthracite," added Mr. Murphy, Sr., and naming the coal dealer, "was $15.50. I can remember the time back in 1872 when I bought the same ton of coal at $15.00 for $18.00 from a man named Livingston, who used to conduct an office where one of the five-and-ten-cent stores is now located."

OBSERVED THEIR GOLDEN WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. Theophile Lamarre of 155 Salem street observed their golden wedding yesterday. The couple had planned to celebrate the event, but owing to the fact that both are not enjoying the best of health, the observance was confined to a family dinner at their home, those participating being the children and grandchildren.

Comparing labor conditions of today with those of 50 years ago, Mr. Lamarre said when he learned his trade in St. John he received $1 a month for the first year, two dollars for the second and three for the third. When he came to Lowell and secured employment from Mr. Frye, he received $1 for a 10-hour day. Now the bricklayers are working but eight hours a day and they are receiving $10 a day.

During his many years in this city Mr. Lamarre has worked on the erection of several of the largest buildings, with he also used his trowel on many mill structures. He is recognized as an expert in his line and despite his 225 years old, he was often seen working on stonings on some of the highest buildings of the city. He has worked for about every contractor in Lowell. After completing the remodeling of the Standard building in Merrimack street for Contractor Fred Meloy last year, Mr. Lamarre retired from active work and since that time he has been a constant companion of his wife, who has been in poor health for several years.

Since their marriage Mr. and Mrs. Lamarre have lived in Lowell and for the past 22 years they have been occupying the same flat at 155 Salem street. They both count a host of friends in this city and they are held in the highest esteem by their numerous acquaintances and neighbors.

Suits Against Builders of Cantons

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—A series of suits for recovery of moneys expended for construction of war cantonments has been decided on as the next step in the government's campaign against alleged frauds under war contracts. Unofficial estimates place the total sum that will be sought in all of the recovery suits at more than $75,000,000. In one camp, costing $13,000,000 auditors were said to have found judgements of an excess expenditure of $5,000,000. In the first group of four suits in which action is to be instituted the government seeks to recover a total of $2,500,000. The Camp Upton suit involves $6,000,000, the Camp Jackson suit, $6,000,000, the Camp Sherman suit, $5,000,000 and the Camp Funston suit, $1,000,000.

GREAT DEMANDS BY TURKEY AND BULGARIA BRIEF BUT IMPORTANT WIRE DESPATCHES

LAUSANNE, Nov. 24.—(By the Associated Press) Both Turkey and Bulgaria made greater demands than had been anticipated at the meeting today of the sub-commission appointed by the Near East conference to study and report upon the question of the Thracian frontiers and Bulgarian outlet to the Aegean sea.

In reference to the proposal for demilitarized zone along the frontier between eastern and western Thrace, the spokesman for Turkey demanded effective guarantees. They asked that these guarantees apply also to the boundary between Eastern Thrace and Bulgaria, which the latter country asks be militarized.

As such guarantees would mean a sure step toward an effective peace, according to the Turkish delegates, the powers will find difficulty in refusing them.

his apprenticeship in his native town and in June, 1872, he then being a full-pledged bricklayer, came to this city and secured employment from the late Fred Frye, at that time one of the leading contractors of this city. Mrs. Lamare came to Lowell at the age of 10 years.

Of the 10 children born to the couple, only three are living, Edgar, Hector and Andrew, all residents of this city. The couple have two grandchildren.

Jack Daw in Hoopland! Chapter 1

Jack Daw, the little adventurer, was among the crowd of people who were watching the antics of an aviator. The man flew way up in the clouds, did nose dives, loop-the-loops and various other things. Jack thought all these sights were the most wonderful he had ever seen.

Suddenly the aviator came gliding down to earth and made a pretty landing right in the midst of the great gathering. Jack immediately edged his way close to the machine. The aviator got out of his plane and announced that he had finished his exhibition. Then he walked away.

"I'll sail away for the coast in an hour," he said. The plane started to drift away and finally Jack was the only one left. "Gee, but I'd like to go with the aviator," thought Jack. And a little voice seemed to say, "Why don't you?" So Jack hid himself in the bow of the plane.
